

1.19. Solve: A forgetful physics professor goes for a walk on a straight country road. Walking at a constant speed, he covers a distance of 300 m in 300 s. He then stops and watches the sunset for 100 s. Finding that it was getting dark, he walks faster back to his house covering the same distance in 200 s.